web applications in trend

Manchester Conference Centre 4-5 June 2015

why wait?

Investment

To remain competitive in the fast-paced web industry it's important to be up-to-date with the latest technologies, trends and design processes. To stay ahead of the curve it is necessary to invest in your staff, so that they can adapt, create and work with new techniques and technologies.

Content

WAIT will introduce new skills and concepts in an accessible and engaging way, which can be used to improve work standards and productivity. It is a great chance for employees to upskill, and inject a new sense of creativity back into their work.

Networking

A cornerstone of WAIT is the emphasis on community. For many of us working in the web industry it is important to be able to connect with peers. Being able to network with others with particular strengths and interests is a key step in seeking and discovering new solutions, and getting professional peer support.

We find meeting face-to-face with our online peers helps strengthen this network, which feeds back into the workplace.

Value

WAIT is a competitively priced event, making it more accessible, and excellent value for businesses needing to keep a close eye on their training budget.

What Comes After?

Videos of all WAIT presentations will be available to delegates as reference material.
